German Transports Feared
Bound For Swedish

PARIS, April 26.—The French war ministry said today that several German troop ships had left Baltic ports, reflecting fears of an invasion of Sweden.

A military spokesman said it was not known whether the German ships were bound for Sweden or to reinforce German troops in Norway. French military officials said Wednesday that German troops were being embarked at ports near Sweden, but that there were reports that the troops were leaving.

REPORTS CONFIRMED

The French said these reports had been confirmed. The spokesman added that British and French warships were alternating in patrolling the Skagerrak, entrance to the Baltic Sea from the North Sea. ### LIBERALS ARE AGAINST ANY "NEW" PARTY

Action Of Liberal Executive
Is Unanimously
Approved

Standing four-square behind their executive members of the Edmonton Provincial Liberal Association, meeting at the I.O.O.F. Hall, 103 street Thursday evening, unanimously approved action by the executive in writing letters to Hugh Macdonald, K.C., M.L.A. for Edmonton, and John J. Bowen, M.L.A. for Calgary, instructing them to refrain from joining any new political party formed in this province.

In this standing behind their executive members of the Association rejected proposals for formation of an "Independent" or any other party which might tend to absorb or submerge the provincial Liberal party.

The meeting also unanimously endorsed a resolution expressing the "highest confidence in the personal character and political integrity of Hugh John Macdonald."

Also the meeting approved a resolution that a letter be sent to Mr. Bowen explaining the executive's action.

Passage of these resolutions closed a special meeting of the Liberal Association called to discuss a letter forwarded and signed by Messrs. Macdonald and Bowen last Saturday. Damages laid for about three hours.

The meeting was limited to the limit of available seats. It was presided over by the Provincial Liberal Association was in the chair, C. H. Grant, K. C. secretary, was in the chair.

Passage of the resolution endorsing the stand of the executive in rejecting overtures for formation of a new political party, followed the withdrawal of a motion that served as the basis for most of the evening's action.

The first motion, in its preamble, recapitulated the efforts of the People's League and United Council to form new parties and dislodge the Liberals, and advocated reorganization of the Liberal party.

Following reading of the minutes of the last meeting, Mr. Grant, in the absence of T. L. Cross, president of the association, read the following presidential report:

Since the last general meeting held on March 10, the Liberal election has taken place, with so far as the Liberal party is concerned, a most satisfactory result. Edmonton returning Liberal members, and the Liberal Association in Edmonton, your Association was not required to take any official action with regard to the election.

The provincial election was held on March 10, and the Liberal party was victorious in carrying out its program. The Liberal party was victorious in carrying out its program. The Liberal party was victorious in carrying out its program.

LOYAL CO-OPERATION

"The officers and members locally co-operated with the Citizens' Committee and the Citizens' Committee, Mr. A. J. McCormack, Mr. N. D. Maclean, K.C. and your president were appointed to represent the association on that committee and look after our interests and those of your constituents."

"The members of that committee rendered their best services to the cause but notwithstanding the great effort put forth by the committee the result was disappointing and only three of the candidates were elected."

"As soon as a convenient time was found to call you together so that you might be given an account of the election and the political situation of the province of Alberta."

"The meeting was called for April 15th. The day or two previous to that meeting there appeared press notices indicating that the Independents elected throughout the province would be prepared to establish a new political party."

"These reports were called to the attention of the meeting and in view of the fact that the Independent party was meeting on the following day, wherever some action might be taken, it was decided to call a meeting of the Liberal party."

All Three Services Join In "Y" Sing-Song

When good fellows get together, whether soldiers, sailors or fliers of the Canadian, British or French armed forces, and hold one of their services, decline these good fellows, it is more than likely that off to some may be seen the world-famous Triangle of the Y.M.C.A. Germans are the last of their kind to do away with. Above is a typical scene in a "Y" hotel situated somewhere on the Atlantic coast.

WAR EFFORT SAVING PLAN IS STRESSED

Graham Towers Says Postponement Of Private
Savings Is Dangerous

TORONTO, April 26.—Suggestions of postponement in private saving for Canada's war effort are dangerous, Graham F. Towers, governor of the Bank of Canada, said today in an address to the Canadian Club of Toronto.

"Increased income must not, in general, be devoted to private saving," he said, "but certainly in this stage there is no suggestion that total private saving can or should be reduced below pre-war figures."

"In the case of people whose incomes were at a painfully low level before the war, he called for increased savings will probably, and quite understandably, be spent in consumption."

CONSUME LESS

"However, those who were above reasonable subsistence levels could and should not expect to enjoy during the war many more of the good things of life than they have enjoyed in times of peace, and if some individuals they might consume less. I think there are views with which everyone will agree in principle. But the argument alone when it comes to application of the principle."

Mr. Towers said he was "heartily in accord" with the idea that total employment and production should be increased to the maximum possible extent, so that we need not incur unnecessary sacrifices. He urged "good timing" in effecting economies, to prevent avoidable dislocations.

"No one who has given this subject consideration can possibly hold the view that a great increase in income arising from a national war effort can be used to any great extent to add to the personal comfort of non-combatants."

"What some will suggest, however, is that the time is not ripe for increasing savings; that business is doing nicely and should be better off. However, it is time enough. There is danger in this suggestion."

Allies Will Make Thorough Job Of Help For Norway

British Military Quarters Explain Difficulties Of Army Challenging German Forces Already Established

By FRED BACKHOUSE
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON, April 26.—Competent military quarters today explained restrained official communications and explained to the public for the first time the difficulties which have limited the Allied army, compelled to challenge German forces already in Norway, but emphasized that "this has not affected, and will not affect, the determination of the Allies to go on with the job and see it through."

Although fresh limited withdrawals south of Dombas in central Norway were reported, an authoritative source said harder of French troops and artillery are now behind the British frontiers, making the main Allied line three or four miles north of Trondheim. The Allied troops, with the Norwegians, were said to have "re-established the situation" and to be now holding their positions.

The authorities said it should be remembered that the sudden attack by the Germans on a friendly country had inevitably given the Allied forces a setback at Trondheim. They added that "who were not prepared to adopt such methods, thus that he said to have lost the first link in so far as the Germans were concerned, and we had not."

Admiralty Issues Stirring Tale Navy's Great Narvik Triumph

LONDON, April 26.—The Admiralty last night issued a stirring account of how the navy "destroyed seven enemy destroyers and silenced shore batteries at the cost of three British destroyers damaged," in the second battle of Narvik, fought April 13.

The long statement told how three German warships were opposed in Ofot fjord in the first 24 hours of the engagement and how the remaining four were chased up Romhals fjord where three were sunk by the British ships and one scuttled herself.

This engagement came three days after the first battle of Narvik, in which the destroyers Hardy, Hunter, Hinchley, Hotspur and Havoc engaged six German destroyers. The Hardy ran aground, the Hunter was sunk and the Hinchley and Hotspur damaged. One German destroyer was sunk and three set afire. Seven German supply ships were sunk.

SHIPS TAKING PART

Last night for the first time it was revealed just which British warships took part in the second battle. They were the battleship Warspite, the destroyers Zerstörer, Hero, Foxhound, Kimberley, Dorchester, Bedouin, Punjabi, Eskimo and Cassin. The Warspite was the British flag.

The official description followed: The weather was misty with low clouds and drizzle when at noon on Saturday, April 13, a British naval force appeared up West Fjord toward Ofot Fjord and Narvik. The force was led by H.M.S. Zerstörer and consisted of the battleship Warspite, Hero, Foxhound, Kimberley and Dorchester and the Tribal class destroyers Bedouin, Punjabi, Eskimo and Cassin and the battleship Warspite. It was a powerful force, a few miles off the coast of Norway.

Just before entering the narrow channel leading into Ofot Fjord H.M.S. Warspite was loaded with bombs, fired off toward Narvik. The Warspite's main gun is one of the ships of the British fleet, the Warspite, the Warspite's main gun is one of the ships of the British fleet, the Warspite's main gun is one of the ships of the British fleet.

The destroyers Bedouin, Punjabi and Eskimo also engaged this enemy destroyer as soon as they came in sight of her.

This German destroyer made an attempt to ram the British ships. She was subjected to murderous fire from the Warspite and the Tribal class destroyers. In eight minutes the German destroyer was ablaze and she was sunk. The Warspite was kept in progress. The Warspite was kept in progress. The Warspite was kept in progress.

First contact between the naval forces and the enemy took place at 12:38 p.m. A German destroyer appeared out of the mist on the south side of the fjord. She was sighted almost simultaneously by H.M.S. Zerstörer and H.M.S. Foxhound. The two ships and H.M.S. Punjabi and H.M.S. Cassin opened fire.

The next thing seen by the British force was the wreckage of the ammunition ship Kautenfeldt, ground and still burning. She had been blown up by H.M.S. Zerstörer during the withdrawal from the raid by the second destroyers fleet three days earlier.

At 12:45 a German destroyer moved up on the starboard side of our forces. She was at once engaged by the Warspite, whose fire she returned. Five minutes later another German destroyer came in sight and joined in the action. Our destroyers took her from the rear and she was sunk. A few minutes later the Warspite opened fire.

OBSTINATE RESISTANCE
Some minutes before the British force came abreast of Ballanger Bay on the south side of Ofot Fjord a warning was received from the Warspite's aircraft. A German destroyer was lurking in the bay. The destroyer was sighted by the Warspite at 1:05 p.m. The German ship at once opened fire and this was immediately returned by the Warspite.

CANADA PARKS GREAT ASSETS IN WAR EFFORT

American Tourists Help
In War By Providing
Foreign Exchange

REGINA, April 26.—Canadians have regarded their 19 national parks as tourist assets, but now with war, strange as it may sound, Canada's parks are war assets. Canadian parks are war assets, Canadian parks are war assets, Canadian parks are war assets.

The Canadian novelist claims Canada's national parks will be a lure to American tourists this year more than ever. These tourists will bring the money to spend, funds which will provide precious exchange for Canada in her war effort, he said.

Mr. Stoad urged that Canadians stress that their country, while close to and a good neighbor of the United States, was a different land. He believed it was imperative that Canadians endeavor to make the American tourist want to see something great and new, and by stressing the individuality of Canada, a greater lure is built up for American tourists.

"Every one of Canada's parks are national assets," said Mr. Stoad. And adding to their popularity, in their greater usefulness, especially in the West, is the new 180-mile gravelled highway that will make the tourist's trip to Jasper in the Banff National Park to Jasper in the Banff National Park to Jasper in the Banff National Park.

Quebec To Assist
School Financing

MONTREAL, April 26.—The Quebec government has agreed to provide the Montreal Catholic school commission with a financial contribution, with funds to complete the current year, it was announced here yesterday.

C.C.F. Planning
For Conventions

REGINA, April 26.—Plans for annual conventions were being drawn up yesterday at provincial headquarters of the Cooperative Commonwealth Federation in Regina. The program is described as involving constituency associations and provincial groups to help the C.C.F. and the Cooperative Commonwealth Youth Movement. Dates for the conventions have not been set, but will probably fall late in June.

Head Publishers

NEW YORK, April 26.—John S. Murray, publisher of the New York Times, was selected president of the American Newspaper Publishers' Association and Walter M. Doolittle, publisher of the New York Journal, was selected president of the American Newspaper Publishers' Association.

When the hero came round a head in the fjord he had been hit on the burning ship while his shipmates made good their escape. This officer was taken aboard the Warspite.

The salvage of the Hans Luise was not possible as the hero sank the last of the seven German destroyers with a torpedo. He hit the Hans Luise below the bridge. The ship lifted in the air and came down in crumbling pieces.

120 NAZIS SURRENDER
Having destroyed seven enemy destroyers and silenced shore batteries at the cost of three British destroyers damaged, the British forces returned and withdrew leaving the German destroyers in possession of the fjord. Later that night the destroyers returned the survivors of the Hans Luise. The British landed a platoon of 24 armed men. These took over control of the Ballanger hospital and school in which the wounded of the Hardy had been accommodated. During the night, after survivors of the Hardy had been taken off to the hospital, 120 Germans entered the town and promptly surrendered to the 24 men landed from the hospital.

Norwegian authorities were anxious that these Germans should be kept in custody, and when the armed landing party of the Warspite was re-embarked the British provided the Norwegians with arms and rifles and ammunition to guard the large body of German prisoners.

The London Admiralty issued its congratulations to Admiral Whitworth, immediately after the battle and in the preliminary communiqué described the battle as "extremely successful."

All About Babies

By RICHARD ARTHUR ROLT
M. D., D. F. H.
Secretary, National and Child Health
Bureau of American Paediatric
Health Association

Eyes, ears and nose are the gateways to knowledge and nutrition of the child. Their importance is often overlooked until some person is injured to their function and the damage is done.

School physicians examining children at school entrance find a large number of children with defects of the eyes, ears, nose and throat. From 15 to 20 per cent of the children exhibit some defects of the eyes and ears which need attention. With the teeth, it is the worst.

The eye is a very delicate organ which may be injured by infection, accident or misuse. Children may inherit certain eye defects or be born with congenital deformities. Some of these may be corrected by a skilled eye specialist. We have done a good deal at birth to protect the baby's eyes against infection. The simple procedure of a few drops of diluted silver nitrate solution, we have almost done away with the cause of blindness.

Remember that the eyes of a child are developing like any other organs. Children in school under artificial environments need special attention given to the eyes. Near-sightedness, far-sightedness, astigmatism, muscle weakness and other conditions can and should be thoroughly investigated by a competent, skilled eye specialist.

A considerable number of children entering school are partially deaf. This may not have been discovered by the parents. The modern method of examining every school child with the most approved type of audiometer is bringing to light many defects of hearing.

Dental hygiene is the most neglected field of public health. We know that dental defects are the most prevalent of all the defects found in school children, but we have not yet discovered the means to prevent many of the defects. We do not know all the factors entering into the decay and deterioration of teeth. We know, however, that primitive people who have not taken refined food with excess of sugar have better teeth than moderns.

And so she has put them on kitchen towels to use for every day of the week with the simplest of stitches—Cross Stitch—and you divide. They are amusing to work and very decorative. As a gift they are ideal and you will want at least one set for your own kitchen. By omitting the days, they are even designed for children's rooms and play clothes.

New Creamy Soap Ideal For Cleansing or Mask

By ALICIA HART

Light cleansing creams, night creams which will do their work in twenty minutes or half an hour, give us hand lotion and foundation preparations are what interest the beauty-minded at this time of year.

Light cooling, summer creams and lotions replace the heavier varieties that we found so necessary during winter weather.

USE CREAM THAT MIXES EASILY

Search for a cleansing cream which liquefies and becomes a thin oil almost as soon as it touches your warm skin. Lay in a supply of bland complexion cream that contains plenty of linolein. It is available for all types of skin, of course. On very oily skin, it may be used as a mask as well as a cleanser. Here are directions for the recommended cream.

Put a small amount of cream against the complexion. Rub gently with a soft face and throat. Rub the cream against the face and throat. Rub the cream against the face and throat.

It's funny I can't keep crack on my things!

What To Do

What?—Certainly not a shower! It is probable the friends of the bride-to-be have showered her with gifts and it would be entirely out of order for you to invite your friends to give her a shower. But if the bride is having a rehearsal say the evening before the day of the wedding, why not invite the bride party over to your home for a light refreshment afterward? This would be a friendly gesture on your part. Or, better still, a Sunday afternoon tea cocktail party in buffet supper at home of your brother and his bride given any time after they are married would be a very nice thing to do to introduce her to your friends.

Teachers Are Seeking Restoration Of Cuts In Salary Schedules

Means of resuming negotiations for an amicable settlement with the Edmonton public school board of claims for restoration of salary cuts made in 1923 were discussed at a meeting of city public school teachers in the separate high school hall, Thursday evening.

Attended by approximately 200 of the 448 members of the city teaching staff, the meeting was in protest at the refusal of the board to restore all or a large amount of cuts now in effect. H. A. Clarke, president of the Edmonton Teachers' Association, was chairman.

Recent negotiations for restoration of cuts and suspended annual increments ended when the board on March 18 passed a resolution granting the teachers $137,000 for 1930, about equal to a year's regular increment, and giving the teachers the right to use this amount as the 1930 increment or apply it on the percentage cuts.

PRESENT REDUCTIONS
Present salary reductions in effect range from nine to 12 per cent. Granting the teachers $137,000 for 1930 would mean a reduction of $1,300 a year from each of the 108.

In 1902 he went to Aurora, Ont., returning west to homestead near Lloydminster in 1907. He moved to Edmonton with his family in 1917 and had resided here from that time until his death.

HOW BIFOCAL LENSES HELP YOU

By Jackson Brock, Optometrist

When you have reached the age of forty-five, the lens in your eye may still be able to focus on a distant object, but the power of the lens for near vision is inadequate. The lens has lost the elasticity of youth. Optical science has provided aid for eyes that have lost this elasticity. Bifocal lenses, two lenses in one placed before the eyes, bend the light rays so that the eye can focus on near objects. The latest portion of the lens is made for distance vision while the bottom portion has power which refocuses youthful accommodation.

There are different types of bifocal lenses, but the best bifocal lens is called the "Bifocal lens." New ideas of construction in this new lens have led to features unknown in earlier type of bifocal lenses.

Family Of 13 Members Needs Forceful Urging From Province Building

Demanding provincial relief and refusing to move when instructed to do so, a Polish family of 13 persons was forcibly removed by city police from the Administration building, 109 street, Thursday. Members of the family resisted the police officers who had come with the patrol wagon. They were taken individually, placed in the wagon and driven to the Salvation Army hall for the night, with quarters being provided there.

Officials of the provincial government said Friday that it was likely the family will remain in the Salvation Army hall, quarters on 101 street, as the province has no decision as to what to do in the responsibility for care.

At present, it is not given transportation east or west as a matter to be decided by the C. N. R. and the province transportation department.

CAME FROM WILKINSON

Michael Zaborny, who came to this country from Poland in 1912, the head of the family, is in the city as a husband and wife and 11 children.

Last Friday they arrived here from Wilkison, at which point they have been farming.

The family, Thursday afternoon, "resisted" in the doorway of the Administration building, 109 street, the morning relief. A bench was placed in the doorway but the family refused to enter. A bench was placed in the doorway but the family refused to enter.

They remained in the building four hours, during which time the children were given milk and candy by employees of the Administration building. While the children, after the lobby, played on the floor or stood near the door, the adults remained in the building.

Zaborny, officials said, does not understand English. He was instructed by the police to leave the building but he refused to do so.

Police in the building were satisfied that reports received by them last Monday night that the body of a small boy had been seen floating in Mill Creek was incorrect. The persons who made the report must have been mistaken. For only did our men fail to find any trace of the body, but there have been small boys reported missing. Staff-Inspector Matt Blackwood of the city police said Friday.

WILKINSON MOVE
Plans in the family to voluntarily remove to the Salvation Army quarters, Friday, a Polish family was called. He also was rejected. City police were called and the family refused to move. Again failure was met.

Eventually the patrol wagon was called with men, police members of the family three members on the floor in front of the relief officers. Later, one of the officers took members of the family in placed them in the wagon. In addition to the father and mother, and 11-month-old child, there were six boys, 13, 14, 15, five and three years old and four girls, 17, 11, nine and seven.

It is understood that the man wants to return to his native land and fails to understand difficulty caused by the war. His family had been offered departure about a year ago, but they had taken place in traveling the world. The cost of a war made it impossible for them to go home.

The father also says that "he can get to Montreal he can get employment."

The family has been on relief since January, 1929, and officials say they cannot understand why it moved here.

Officials stated if the members of the family returned to Wilkison they would be given relief.

Four hundred and seventy-one qualified aircraftmen took part in graduation ceremonies at St. Thomas Technical Training Centre; the first class of aircraftmen to be trained in Canada under the British Commonwealth Air Training Plan. British Dress Rehearsal for Norwegian Landing

This dress rehearsal of the great business of landing on beaches shown recently accomplished in fact by British forces in Norwegian ports, was photographed on the very day Nazi troops began their invasion of Scandinavia. Troops shown are of British York and Lancaster regiments, training in England.

Off To The Western Front

Members of the Anglo-French Women's Ambulance Corps are shown just before they sailed from England for war duty on the western front. They are ambulance drivers and will receive additional training in the Marshal Foch Hospital in Paris before being assigned to sections on the front.

But for lucking in the north was the mining of glacial points off the Norwegian coast to stop the flow of iron ore to Germany from mines in the Swedish hills. Photograph shows how the allied blockade has cut off more than half of the ore supply for glowing Nazi steel mills.
